

1

Black Hall Club

- Old Lyme, Connecticut -

Green
Depth
35

The opening par four at Black Hall requires a well placed tee shot, preferably to the right center of the fairway. This will leave the best angle to the green, which is well bunkered left and right and protected by a large tree about 50 yards in front of the green on the left.

The front portion of the green is severely sloped (see inset diagram) and will collect anything with too much spin. Red dot • indicates perspective of above photo.

377 361

331 310